

To inspire people around me, as I have been inspired. And to inspire people to make this world even better. This is my motto. everything else I do revolves around this motto.